

Sinclair's Broadcasting decision to force their station to air anti-Kerry documentary just before the election is an excellent clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. Sinclair uses, without charge the public airwaves and is then obligated to serve the public interest. This is what happens when large companies own the airwaves. The viewer gets what serves the bottom line, not what we need for our democracy.